

The background features a stylized world map in a light orange-brown hue. Scattered across the map are several topographic contour lines, some of which are more prominent and detailed than others, particularly in the corners. The overall aesthetic is that of a vintage or hand-drawn map.

Live Danger Map

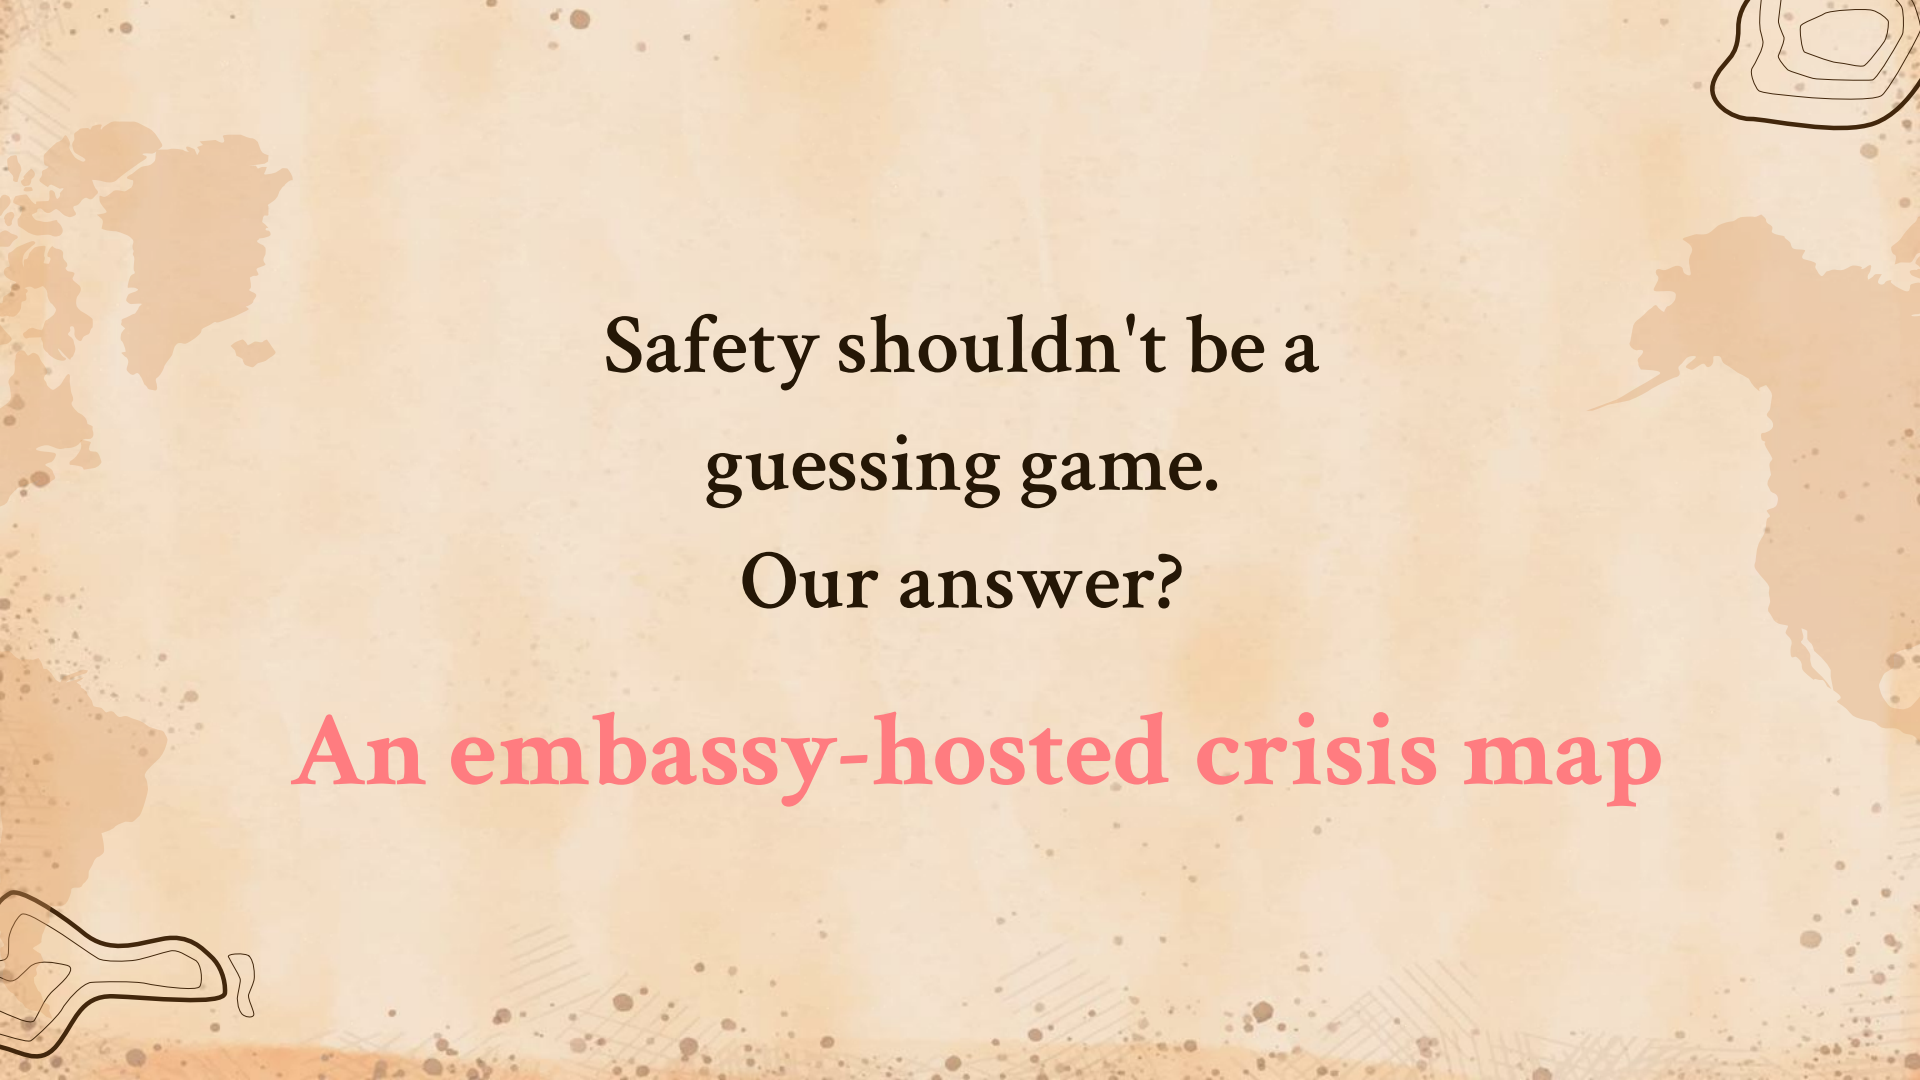

Team R139

The background features a stylized world map in a light tan color. Overlaid on the map are several hand-drawn topographic contour lines in black ink, appearing as if they were sketched onto the page. These contours are located in the top center, top right, bottom left, and bottom right areas. The overall aesthetic is that of a vintage or hand-drawn map.

In times of crisis and war, civilians abroad face chaos, fear, and unreliable information.

Their most urgent question?

Where am I safe?

Safety shouldn't be a guessing game.

Our answer?

An embassy-hosted crisis map

Safety First

Protection of Civilians

Accessibility

Available to anyone

Trustworthy Information

Official embassy and government sources

Ease of Use

Intuitive design

Real-Time Awareness

Live data

The background is a light beige, textured surface with a mottled appearance. Faint, stylized outlines of the world's continents are visible in a slightly darker shade of beige. Overlaid on this are several black line-art topographic maps of specific regions: a portion of North America in the top left, a coastal area in the top right, a portion of South America in the bottom left, and a coastal area in the bottom right. The word "Demo" is centered in a large, dark brown, serif font.

Demo

Thanks!

Feel free to check out the project!

